WHAT ARE THE HOLIDAY BLUES?

In a survey on the Holiday Blues

64% say they are affected

and 24% say the holidays affect them a lot.

So, what are they?

The Holiday Blues are temporary feelings of anxiety or depression during the holidays that can be associated with extra stress, unrealistic expectations or even memories that accompany the season.

This might include:

- Fatigue
- Tension
- Frustration
- Loneliness or isolation
- Sadness
- A sense of loss

The difference between the holiday blues and clinical anxiety or depression is that the feelings are temporary. However, short-term problems must still be taken seriously because they can lead to long-term mental health conditions.

Tips for avoiding the Holiday Blues

1. Stick to normal routines as much as possible.
2. Get enough sleep.
3. Take time for yourself, but don’t isolate yourself. Spend time with supportive, caring people.
4. Eat and drink in moderation. Don’t drink alcohol if you are feeling down.
5. Get exercise—even if it’s only taking a short walk.
7. Set reasonable expectations and goals for holiday activities such as shopping, cooking, entertaining, attending parties or sending holiday cards.
8. Set a budget for holiday activities. Don’t overextend yourself financially in buying presents.
9. Listen to music or find other ways to relax.

Remember

The holiday blues are short-term. Be patient. Take things week by week or day by day.
